Design of the urban furniture and the urban spaces

To discover the town

The City of Madrid would like to redesign their public spaces. The competition was to develop three different urban paths through which the inhabitants and visitors would discover the urban space of Madrid. The cultural path is mainly characterized through the historic town structure and its cultural buildings. The existing network of streets and places appears like entrenched into the build environment and create a continuous space, witnessing the history of the city.

The sports path reinforces and connects the existing sports facilities to create modern sport centres and intermediate sport installations: like skate parks, climbing walls, tai-chi garden ... The slow route passes by a great number of local public places. Their redesign for the children, elder people and tourists offers the possibility to relax safely under pleasant conditions, to reorient themselves and to discuss while discovering the town.
